BROOKS CHAMBERS

I’m a brand leader with a background in copywriting and strategy. I have a proven track record of leading multidisciplinary in-house teams through complete rebrands, product/feature launches, campaigns and more. I have experience at companies ranging from Series B (Loom) through to being publicly traded (Twitch, GitHub) and everything in-between (Dropbox pre-IPO, Intercom, Mode).

GitHub

Director, Brand & Content Marketing

2025 — Present

- Expanded scope to lead Brand Studio, Content, Social, Campaigns, and the GitHub Shop, unifying brand expression across disciplines under a single creative vision.
- Drove creative strategy and execution for GitHub Universe, including keynote content development, campaign creative, and event brand identity.
- Oversaw the GitHub Blog and long-form editorial, shaping narrative strategy for product launches, thought leadership, and developer audience growth.
- Created and implemented a refined brand voice, developing comprehensive writing and messaging guidelines that unified tone across product marketing, editorial, campaigns, and social.

GitHub

Creative Director

2023 — 2025

- Lead GitHub’s global brand strategy and creative direction, establishing a cohesive visual and verbal global identity
- Drove annual brand refresh cycles aligning creative direction, narrative, and execution to sharpen market perception
- Architected and implemented new brand guidelines, systems, and self-serve tooling that empowered non-designers, increased velocity, and reduced custom asset requests.
